Rules of So Spider So What 55

To play So Spider So What 55, you will need two decks of cards. The cards are dealt into ten piles, with four cards in each pile. The top card of each pile is turned face up, and the remaining cards are turned face down.

The goal of the game is to build eight stacks of cards in descending order, from king to ace. You can build on any stack, regardless of the suit of the card. However, you can only move a card to a stack if the card is one rank lower than the top card on the stack.

For example, you can move a queen to a stack with a king on top, or a 10 to a stack with a jack on top. You can also move multiple cards at once, as long as the cards are in descending order and the top card of the stack is one rank lower than the bottom card of the group you are moving.

If you get stuck, you can click on the "Deal" button to deal three more cards to each pile. You can also click on the "Undo" button to undo your last move.

Strategies for So Spider So What 55

There are a few strategies that you can use to improve your chances of winning So Spider So What 55. First, try to move cards to the foundation piles as soon as possible. The foundation piles are the eight piles in the top left corner of the screen. Once you have built a foundation pile, it will be removed from the game, and you will be one step closer to winning.

Second, try to keep your tableau piles as clean as possible. The tableau piles are the ten piles in the middle of the screen. If you have too many cards in your tableau piles, it will be difficult to find the cards you need to build the foundation piles.

Third, don't be afraid to use the "Deal" button. The "Deal" button can be used to deal three more cards to each pile. This can be helpful if you are stuck and cannot find any moves to make.
